

NMSU Grants Associate Faculty

New Mexico State University Grants invites individuals to apply to our associate faculty (part-time) teaching pool. We are renewing our pool of qualified applicants for various disciplines. While associate faculty members primarily teach during the evenings and on weekends, individuals who can teach during the early morning and day time are encouraged to apply. As our immediate priority the university is seeking individuals who can teach in the following areas:

English Composition (all levels) Mathematics (all levels)

In addition applications are continuously accepted for all of the following disciplines:

Accounting	Geographic Information Systems
Art and Art Studio	Government
Automotive Technology	History
Anthropology	Health Science
Building Trades	Human Nutrition and Food Science
Business	Journalism and Communication
Business Office Technology	Laguna Acoma Studies
Computer Technology	Linguistics
Criminal Justice	Music
Creative Media Technology	Mathematics
College Studies	Navajo Studies
Communication Studies	Paramedic
Computer Science	Nurse Aide
Counseling and Educational Psychology	Public Safety (Corrections Officer)
Developmental Studies Early Childhood	Philosophy
Education	Psychology
Digital Graphics	Physics
Drafting and Graphics Technology	Sociology
Economics	Spanish
Education	Special Education
Electronics	Statistics
Electrical Trades	Social Work
French	Theater Arts
Geology	Women's Studies

Faculty positions require a Master's degree in a field related to the teaching discipline. Career technical programs require an associate or bachelor degree. To apply, submit a letter of interest, resume and copies of college transcripts to Janie Gutierrez, Human Resources, NMSU Grants, 1500 Third Street, Grants, NM 87020 or call 505-287-6625. Offer of employment is contingent upon verification of applicant's legibility to be employed in the United States.

NMSU IS AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY/AFFIRMATIVE ACTION EMPLOYER.